

Living Iron

Living Iron produces handcrafted work for residential and commercial projects, from traditional wrought iron through to structural steel.

From the orangutan enclosure at Perth Zoo to the balustrading and gates of an Applecross home, the team at Living Iron has been involved in a diverse range of projects.

Living Iron was founded in 1999 by blacksmith and artisan Craig Parton and offers clients the opportunity to incorporate tailored ornamental and architectural wrought iron elements into their homes.

From elaborate fences and gates to water features and wall sculptures, no job is too big or small for Craig and his team of experienced artisans, who take great pride in being able to handle any challenge.

Living Iron also has extensive expertise in the design and construction of internal and external balustrading for commercial and residential projects.

All projects are designed in close consultation with Living Iron's clients to ensure their custom designed ironwork enhances their property.

The most appropriate finish is selected to coordinate with exterior colour schemes. A wide range of colours and textures are available.

The final product is hand forged, creating a carefully crafted piece of unique iron art, designed to complement your property.
